Suckers

About fifty years ago, Dr. Harold Stauffer, a family physician in Bareville, PA had his office in his home. The waiting room was full of patients, as patients were seen on a first-come, first-served basis.

The bread delivery man came to the house door, as they did fifty years ago, and his 7 year old daughter, Judy, ran to greet him. Judy had just come from her father's office with one of the lollipops he kept in his desk drawer to please his small patients. Judy yelled at the top of her voice, "You should see all the suckers in my Daddy's office."

Everybody in the waiting room had heard her. Dr. Stauffer was chagrined as he opened the door to the waiting room to greet the first patient.
